

About me

I joined Bury Council in October 2021 as a Family Support Worker on the Children with Disabilities Team. I have previously worked with adults and children with various complex needs. I have now been a support worker for 5 years.

What I love about my job

Being able to work with families and children. Meeting different people, listening, and finding ways to help. Being surrounded by a supporting team.

Three things in my house of good things

- My family
- My cats
- My cosy bed

Three things in my house of worries

- A messy home
- My car breaking down
- Waking up late and rushing

Three things in my house of dreams

- Having more cats
- Completing my counselling diploma
- Travelling

PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Name: Momena Khanom

Role: Family Support Worker, Children with Disabilities Team

How I can help you

I review and monitor the financial support package in place for the Children and Young People I am allocated. I make 3 monthly telephone contact with families and see them every 6 months to complete a review and make sure the package is still meeting the needs of the child.

About my role

As a Family Support Worker, my role is to review & monitor the financial support package in place for the children and young people I am allocated. I also attend the yearly EHCP reviews.

We work with families if that disability is complex having a significant impact on their lives, and the children or young people can't always do the ordinary things that another child or young person would do. You can find out more about this in our eligibility criteria.

We work across a range of ages, we are a 0 to 18 year old service. The work we do depends on what the child or young person and their family need. Wherever possible all children and young people, with or without disabilities, should be supported to have their individual needs met by their family and by universal (available to everyone) and targeted services which are available in their local community.

Each family is different so if extra help is needed the social workers on the team meet children, young people and families, gather some information, and carry out an assessment. We work hard to make sure that we offer the right kind support and to you at the right time.

The team is committed to the rights of children and young people with disabilities to fulfil their personal potentials, ambitions and their roles in society.
